Hexima's field trials on track and unaffected by Queensland floods

Hexima Limited today confirmed that the field trials currently underway in the Darling Downs region of Queensland and northern New South Wales have not been affected by the widespread flooding.

Hexima's Managing Director, Dan O'Brien said "Field trials are always subject to the forces of nature. We are pleased that the recent flooding in Queensland and New South Wales has not adversely affected the trials and the progress to date remains promising".

Results of the field trials will be released in June 2008 following completion of the harvest and the analysis of data.

Hexima Limited is an ASX-listed agribusiness company (ASX Code: HXL) actively engaged in the research and development of technology for the protection and enhancement of commercial crops, primarily to enhance their resistance to insects and fungal pests.
